L.RAPHAEL Beauty Spa at Four Seasons Hotel, New York

L.RAPHAEL Beauty Spa at Four Seasons Hotel New York is the world-class skincare brand's first location in North America. The spa offers effective and luxury treatments using breakthrough technologies that have made Swiss brand L.RAPHAEL a market leader in anti-ageing skincare. Known for their high performing products they use the rarest and highest quality ingredients to create unique formulas.

After walking through the grand entrance you'll arrive at the 4,500 square foot spa space. With views of Central Park, the spa is home to ten elegantly designed treatment rooms including two luxury couples' suites. L.RAPHAEL is also home to a full-service hair salon, two nail stations, saunas and a boutique selling L.RAPHAEL premium skincare products.

THE TREATMENTS

L.RAPHAEL has developed a treatment menu that perfectly complements the qualities of the products and meets the needs of the busy men and women living New York's fast-paced lifestyle, or those visiting, looking for a relaxing escape. Treatments on offer include facials, body and massage therapies, hair and nail care, and makeup application – so you can even pop-in before a big night out. Many of the treatments offer a holistic approach that is both calming and rejuvenating as well as scientifically advanced.

We were lucky enough to discover the signature Diamond Oxy-Lift treatment for the face. This non-invasive treatment uses the latest in skincare products including ultra-fine diamond powder to promote glowing skin for days after you leave. This scientifically advanced and ultra-luxurious experience visibly reduces the appearance of lines and wrinkles thanks to the active ingredients in L.RAPHAEL's products. These ingredients work together to release high quality oxygen beneath the skin's surface and continue to nourish and revitalise long after you leave the spa.

The use of diamond powder is the added luxury of this treatment. With its rigid lattice network the diamond is known to be the hardest material on earth. When pulverized diamonds create an exquisite micro-fibre that is becoming increasingly popular in skin treatments thanks to its exfoliating texture and super-fine tone that allows for radiance and glow. The results? You'll leave the spa with a natural glow that will have you feeling rejuvenated and refreshed.
